After Two Innings the Grounds Were in Shape for Good Playing on Account of the Storm-The Uniformed Rank Played a Stubborn Game, but Were Beaten.

A spirited game of baseball was played yesterday at National Park between the Arling-ton Mounted Division and the Uniformed Rank Washington Division of the Knights of Pythias. The play was started on dry ground, but at the beginning of the second inning a heavy downpour of rain made the earth heavy and good playing impossible. After six innings of play time was called on account of darkness, with the Ariingtons in the lead by a score of 21 to 19. Although very few plays were made that might be

The condition of the grounds as a natural consequence turned the game into more of a farce than a serious contest. The bare paths had become mud puddles, and the grassy portions were soaked with rain.

There was mud on the players, there was mud all over the grounds, and the suffre affair was veritably full of mud. The two teams were placed as follows: teams were placed as follows:

UMPIRE HARTLEY DENOUNCED.

Cleveland Officials Claimed Undue Par-CLEVELAND, July 2.-Umpire Hartley gave to-day's game to New York, but the Cleveland management will protest. In the third inning Rusie hit to first and was put out, Umpire Stage at the base making the decision. Then Fuller struck out, Burke was sent to first, and Davis struck out, but Hartley gave him his base on balls. Then three other men were sent to first, forcing in three runs.

Hartley's conduct is denounced, and the officials of the Cleveland team say they will not let him on the grounds again. Weather clear and hot. Attendance, 800.

SPORT BY A NOSE

New York, July 2.—The attendant nead Bay to-day was good, and as a rule the races were interesting. The usual fine race was seen in the bandicap, when Sport and Don Alonzo ran nose and nose for nearly half a mile, the last quarter being a bard half a mile, the last quarter being a bard drive. The distance was a mile and an eighth, and when the flag fell to a good start Stowaway too't the lead and held it for half a mile. Then Don Alonzo went to the front and remained there until but half a mile was left to go, when Sport joined him, and running kindly hung on in fine style. At the turn into the stretch Sims shook Don Alonzo up a little, but still Sport clung on, and in the last few jumps poked his nose far enough in front to win.

All About a Setter Dog. Charles E. Barbour, a patent attorney, was charged in the Police Court yesterday morning with stealing a setter dog, the property of Arthur B. Bateman, but the case was disnissed, it having been shown to Judge Mil-ler's satisfaction that the rawas no evil in-tent. The court did not undertake to pass upon the question of the ownership of the animal, which seems to be involved in a haze of mistaken identity, as it were. Bateman declares he will have the dog if he has to carry the ease to the Supreme Court.

Effort to Compel Street Railways to Adopt Sefety Car Fenders. The street railways in the District, whether propelled by electricity or cable, must adopt safety fenders.

Senator Gallinger, a member of the District Committee, introduced yesterday a bill to that effect, and with the bill was a report from the District Commissioners declaring that they doubted whether any of the roads in the city had as yet employed a suitable fender. Although the Commissioners have for several months been making a study of the subject, they have as yet discovered no fender which they care to recommend.

The bill orders all cable or electric roads to adjust their tracks and roadbed in such manner as to facilitate the use of safety fenders, and for neglect to comply with the provisions of the bill, and provide fenders avoiding present evils after six months' notice, a fine of $1 per car a day is to be levied.

The specific suggestions of the Commissioners are: First, that the street car companies remove projections above the pavement belonging to their construction, and which are unnecessarily inconvenient and obstructive to the public. Second, to use on cars those safety appliances which the Commissioners may find satisfactory or desirable. Senator Gallinger, a member of the Distric Petition for the Extension of the Brightwood Railway.

Elaborate Statistical Table Showing the Practice in Seventy-five Chief Cities. Washington Behind Them in Many Particulars Overhead Trolley Opposed.

The Citizens' Association of Brightwood wenue, by Messrs. W. A. Gatley and A. L. Iceno, its president and secretary, respectively, has prepared a position, supplemente by an elaborate statistical table, for presents ion to the District Committee of the United States Senate, asking, among other things, that the Brightwood Railrost Company may be permitted to extend its tracks into the city, and that the street railways be required payment of two fares for a single trip between the city and the suburbs may be avoided.

The petition is as follows: The petition is as follows:

"After communicating with the mayors of eighty-flive cities in the United States, the appended statistics were received from seventy-flive of them: Twenty-two cities have forty-seven wholly suburban street roads, of which twenty-six enter the hearts of the cities on their extended tracks, four enter on other roads, and thirteen transfer to city roads, "Of the thirteen that transfer to city roads, five do so without additional charge, and six charge an additional fare of five cents. The tracks of 121 city roads have been extended into the suburbs. Of this number thirty-three charge an additional fare. In the majority of cases the additional charge is when the roads extend into the suburbs eight, ten, and fifteen miles.

"Six cities have belt roads, three of them being steam and three electric. Nashville has a clearing-house system, whereby all roads, except two, enter a union station in the heart of the city, wherea transfer is given which entitles the holder to a continuous ride which entitles the holder to a continuous ride to any portion of the city or soburbs without additional charge. Only a few cities have the antiquated horse or mule car.

"From the above it will be seen that the District, the capital of the nation, is behind other cities in a great many particulars.

"In the majority of the cities in all sections of the country suburban street railway facilities are enjoyed, and of the number a majority enter the heart of the city without additional cost, twenty-six entering on their own tracks.

tional cost, twenty-six entering on their own tracks.

"The people living along the Brightwood street railroad are dropped at Florida avenue, and are required to pay an additional fare to any portion of the city or else walk, while the Eckington road carries her passengers to the business portions of the city on her own tracks, and even to Georgetown by transfer. It can be readily seen by a casual observer, or by referring to the company's annual report of 1893, that this section justly chains before treatment, as its passenger resources from Florida avenue to and beyond the District line are greater than those of any other section.

sources from Florida avenue to and beyond the District line are greater than those of any other section.

"We therefore respectfully urge that the Brightwood Railroad Company be permitted to extend its tracks to the center of the city, and, to accomplish that object, that the pian of the Traction Railroad Company and its bill before Congress may receive your sanction, together with the proposed branch of the Brightwood Railroad Company down New Jersey avenue to the Capitol.

"We also most respectfully urge that all new roads and all roads changing their systems of traction be required to adopt such a system of underground electric propulsion as can be used by suburban trolley roads. We are not favorable to the extension of the overhead trolley system within the city limits.

"As citizens of the suburbs we feel that we have a right to claim passage to the heart of the city of Washington by a continuous ride for one fare.

"We would recommend to your careful consideration the clearing-house system now in vogue in Nashville. Tenn., which we consider the best solution of the transfer question. The universal transfer system is emine mily unjust, and would mean death to all small city roads or to suburban roads, especially the Brightwood road.

"Hoping that you will act favorably upon our petition, whereby a large suburban population may be enabled to reach their offices and places of business and avoid the present unjust discrimination or tax, we will ever pray, etc."
